

Celebrate the Seasons with the Greater Vancouver Zoos Spring Break Jr. Zoologist Camp!

The GVZoo's Jr. Zoologist camp is taking place on Monday, March 13th – Friday, March 17th. Join us for a day or for the whole week while we explore what animals all over the world do for the changing seasons in their home country. Kids will conduct experiments, create enrichment items for animals, make crafts, meet some of our zookeepers and more!

Monday: Summer Time Fun

- Summer is fun for people but a challenge for animals. However, many creatures have adapted to the high temperatures of summer - we will explore a few of them!

Tuesday: Fall Leaves World Wide

- Fall is a time of preparation & decisions for animals all around the world – bears eat to prepare for hibernation, deer grow thick fur, birds fly south – children will learn about why this is and more.

Wednesday: Winter Wonder-World

- It's the chilliest time of year but there are still animals that thrive in temperatures that would freeze us! We will focus on our cold-loving animals and how they have adapted to survive winter world wide.

Thursday: Spring Beauty

- Spring is the time of rebirth! Animals come out of winter hiding and there is new life everywhere! Children will learn what the big change from winter to spring means for animal's world wide.

Friday: Changing Tides for the Seasons

- Animals depend on seasonal changes to live their lives but with our warming planet there has been dramatic affects on the seasons. Today we will cover why this is such a big problem for animals and what we can do to help stop it!
